FARMERS MEET FOR NEW WORK

In Further Organization Of A. S. of E.

VITAL RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Another Meeting Is Called For Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11.

POULTRY POOL IS ORGANIZED

Pursuant to the call made by the farmers of Ohio county that met in Hartford, January 27th, about fifty farmers met at Hartford on February 12th to receive reports of the committee that was appointed at the January meeting. The house was called to order in the basement of the Methodist church at 10 o'clock by President S. L. Stevens. A report of the committees was called for, which showed a total of about 100 already signed up to renew the A. S. of E., and about thirty thousand dollars worth of property subscribed for insurance.

The following motion was put before the house which carried by a unanimous vote: "That we as a body of men reorganize our local unions into the A. S. of E. In order that we may reorganize our county, all voting for this proposition there by do pledge ourselves to use our influence to get our neighbors to this meeting and also promise to attend these meetings if possible to do so."

It was ordered that there be a committee appointed on resolutions to report at one o'clock. The following were appointed: Azro Rowan, T. F. Tanner and O. R. Tinsley. The house was then adjourned till one o'clock.

The body met at the court house at one-thirty and it was ordered that there be a collection taken to pay for the use of the church and there was $1.28 collected which was turned over to the church. The committee on resolutions then made the following report which was adopted by sections:

Whereas, we believe that organization and co-operation are necessary for us as farmers and we believe that unsatisfactory marketing of our products can and should be improved, we believe that the A. S. of E. offers us the best opportunity to better our condition.

1st. Because it is already established with National and State departments.

2d. Because it offers us a way to market all the products of our farms and is not limited to any one crop.

3d. Because it offers us an opportunity to buy the necessary things for our farms at a great saving.

4th. Because we have tried it and know by experience that we have been benefited by it. Therefore be it

Resolved, that we here and now pledge our best efforts to reorganize the A. S. of E. in Ohio county.

Resolved, that in order to carry out the foregoing resolution that we call a meeting in each portion of the county for the purpose of taking action on this matter, it being understood that any one may become a full member by paying $1.50 dues for one year.

That all persons having a copy of the agreement put out at a previous meeting, be urged to continue soliciting for members.

That we co-operate with other organizations of farmers so far as our interests are mutual.

Resolved, that we favor a poultry pool and recommend that we now take steps to perfect such a pool. Carried.

Moved and carried that there be a committee of three appointed to get up a poultry pledge and the following were appointed: E. C. Baird, Alvey Tichenor and W. F. Stevens.

It was ordered that there be a committee of two elected to make sales for the poultry and L. P. Bennett and G. P. Jones were elected.

It was moved and carried that there be a meeting called for Friday and Saturday before the second Sunday in March, 1916.

It was also ordered that S. L. Stevens be declared as president until the above stated meeting, and that there be an election of officers then.

Moved and carried that we extend to the county papers our sincere gratitude for their help and courtesies in our work.

The body then adjourned.

KENTUCKY-BRED HORSE FOR EMPEROR OF JAPAN

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 12.—Montgomery Rex, a Kentucky-bred horse, foaled at Pisgah, near here, and belonging to Charles R. Hadley, of Los Angeles, has been selected as one of two animals to be presented to Emperor Yoshihito of Japan by the Japanese Association of America, according to word received here to-day.

After many months' search Dr. Fusihiko Morioka, special representative of the association, decided that Montgomery Rex was a suitable mount for His Majesty and the horse was purchased at a princely figure and is now on its way to San Francisco preparatory to shipment to Japan, where it will be presented, with another stallion, to the Emperor as a coronation present from his subjects in the United States. Montgomery Rex is fifteen and one-half hands high and of almost perfect conformation.

DIVORCE CASES ON THE INCREASE IN DAVIESS

The Owensboro Inquirer says: The last five years have seen an increase in the number of divorce cases heard in Daviess county courts. Every year a larger proportion of the court docket has been given over to the divorce proceedings, and if the suits of the uncongenial keep coming in as they have for the last week or so, the February term of Court will mark a still greater increase.

During the last ten days actions for divorce have been on an average of more than one a day, while 18 new cases have been filed in the last three weeks. Abandonment, drunkenness and cruelty are the principal charges made in the complaints. From present indications, Judge Slack will have to consider at least 50 actions for divorce during the February term.

To-day Mrs. Nannie Bruce began suit for divorce against her husband, John Bruce. The complaint says that they were married in McLean county January 2, 1885. After living together for 30 years and rearing six children, five of them over 21 years old, domestic difficulties presented themselves and the couple separated a short time ago. Mrs. Bruce asks for the custody of the youngest child, ten years old, and also asks to be given title to two lots in the Mechanicsville addition.

ASKS TO BE HUNG AFTER SHOOTING SWEETHEART

Murphreesboro, Ill., Feb. 12.—"Build a scaffold out there in the courtyard and break my neck this afternoon," said George Smothers, of this city, to Sheriff White this afternoon, after he had shot and probably fatally injured his sweetheart, Goldie Barker.

Sathers shot the girl two times, one bullet from a .38-caliber revolver entering her abdomen, and another striking their engagement ring on her hand and glancing off. Smothers dragged the woman from the sidewalk into the middle of the street before shooting her. After firing the shots he ran, but was captured.

Miss Barker said she could give no reason for the shooting.

STATE RECORD PRICE FOR TOBACCO IS PAID

Horse Cave, Ky., Feb. 10.—The record of the State for high-priced tobacco was broken here when the Lurley house sold the best grade from P. H. Houk's crop of White Burley for $1.15 a pound. This was the highest tobacco ever sold on this market. Houk's entire crop averaged $29.73. The 25,000 pounds offered on this floor averaged $9.67. The market was very active and prices seem to be advancing. The People's house also conducted a large sale to-day, selling 57,875 pounds at an average of $10.37.

Sixty-one indictments were reported by the San Francisco Federal grand jury in the German bomb conspiracy cases, among the defendants being the German and Austrian consular agents.

HUNDRED BILLS ARE ON THE WAY

Many Measures Have Passed the House.

THE TAX LAW SEEMS DOOMED

For Present Session—Chairman Is Unable To Get His Committee Together.

TALK OF AN EXTRA SESSION

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 13.—Statewide prohibition being shelved, it is believed that during the remaining twenty-five days of the present session the wheels of legislation will grind rapidly. A hundred or more measures are in the orders of the day in the House, and if something unforeseen does not occur to distract the attention of the members, these bills can be disposed of in comparatively short order. With the exception of the Crowe measure, seeking to place telephone, telegraph, express and steamboat companies under the supervision of the State Railroad Commission, practically all the Administration bills introduced to date have passed the lower branch of the General Assembly. It is probable that the Crowe bill will be acted upon this week.

All hope for the enactment of a comprehensive tax law during the present session has been abandoned, work of drafting a tax bill not having been even started. William A. Perry, of Louisville, chairman of the House Committee on Revenue and Taxation, has been unable to get his committee together to work on such a bill as yet, many of the committee members having been occupied by other matters that have consumed all their time. As a result there is persistent talk of an extra session, for the consideration of a revenue measure only, to be called, maybe, the early part of next January.

The House Committee that set in the impeachment proceedings instituted against Judge J. E. Williams, of McCreary county, probably will make its report, recommending his impeachment, Monday or Tuesday, and if the majority report is concurred in by the House membership the Senate will be called upon to sit as a high court in the case. F. M. White, of Marion county, the lone Republican member of the Impeachment Committee, will submit a minority report, recommending that the charges against Judge Williams, who is a Republican, be dismissed.

Within the next few days, it is said, there will be introduced in the House and Senate a redistricting bill that will be supported by Democrats and Republicans alike. Although it may not be everything that the Republicans could wish, it will be something of a concession on the part of the Democrats, giving to the Republicans more representation in the General Assembly than they have ever had before.

NEW ARTIFICIAL FINGERS CONTROLLED BY WIRES

Berlin, Feb. 12.—At the convention of the German Orthopedic Society, which is in session here, many inventions of methods for repairing the wastes of war have been exhibited or discussed.

DR. FERDINAND SAUERBRUCH, Professor of Surgery at Zurich University, showed the delegates an artificial hand which was able to grasp objects of all forms and to lift weights up to 32 pounds.

An entirely novel feature of the hand is that it and the fingers are controlled by muscular action in the upper arm, which is prepared for such work by two operations.

The muscular power afterward is transmitted to the hand through a system of wires and pulleys, to which all the fingers respond.

GARRISON QUILTS CABINET PLACE

Many Measures Have And Resigns As Secretary Of War.

DISAGREES WITH PRESIDENT

On the Policy Of Increasing the Army—He Will Quit Politics.

BRECKINRIDGE ALSO RESIGNS

Washington, Feb. 11.—Secretary Garrison has resigned from the Cabinet because President Wilson declined to insist without compromise upon the adoption of the continental army plan by Congress. The resignation was tendered and accepted yesterday, and with Mr. Garrison, the Assistant Secretary of War, Henry S. Breckinridge, also left the service of the Government.

To-day the President finds himself personally in charge of the Administration's plans for strengthening the army and working out a definite military policy. He has not selected a successor to Mr. Garrison, and it is regarded as probable that even after the new head of the War Department is named, the President, who had made a careful study of the problem, will continue to handle the preparedness plans to a great extent himself.

The reasons for Secretary Garrison's resignation and its acceptance by the President are disclosed in lengthy correspondence made public between them. The correspondence revealed that while the Secretary left the Cabinet principally because the President would not "irrevocably" support the continental army plan, his opposition to the Administration's program for settling a definite time for Filipino independence, as outlined in Senator Clarke's amendment to the Philippine bill, was an important factor.

Secretary Garrison's resignation and its acceptance by the President are disclosed in lengthy correspondence made public between them. The correspondence revealed that while the Secretary left the Cabinet principally because the President would not "irrevocably" support the continental army plan, his opposition to the Administration's program for settling a definite time for Filipino independence, as outlined in Senator Clarke's amendment to the Philippine bill, was an important factor.

Secretary Garrison contended that only a Federal continental army, instead of a recognized National Guard, could be the main military dependence of the country, while the President contended that no one plan could be forced upon Congress. It was upon these two contentions that the break between the President and Secretary of War came. Mr. Garrison considered reliance upon the militia for national defense an "unjustifiable imperiling of the nation's safety."

Assistant Secretary Breckinridge, who shared Secretary Garrison's views, resigned because of loyalty to his chief. His resignation also was accepted.

Although the resignation of Secretary of War Garrison came as a surprise to those outside the Administration's inner circle, it was not unlooked for by those intimately acquainted with White House and War Department affairs. The correspondence that has passed between Secretary Garrison and President Wilson in the last few weeks clearly indicates that Mr. Garrison has been discontented with his berth for some time.

Mr. Garrison told friends here that he was out of politics for "good and all," and it was his intention to return to private life and take up his business duties where he left off before he was appointed to the President's Cabinet.

Those close to the President say that this was not the first time Mr. Garrison had planned to surrender his portfolio. They say that on at least three other occasions the Secretary of War clashed with the President on administrative questions, and that a break had been regarded as inevitable.

The resignation of Henry S. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, as Assistant Secretary of War caused little comment here. He has followed the policies of Secretary Garrison consistently, and when his chief offered his resignation Mr. Breckinridge lost no time in taking similar action.

Speculation is rife here regarding the probable successor of Secretary Garrison. Well-informed persons intimated that the President may have in mind appointing Secretary of the Interior Lane to be Secretary of War. Others insisted, however, that the President's mind is open, and that he has no thought of making haste in filling this position.

Doubt was expressed that the South would be looked to to furnish the next Secretary of War. It is pointed out that Southerners are now in control of most of the important committees in Congress, and that for political reasons it might be regarded as expedient to select an Eastern, Northern or Middle Western Democrat for the vacancy in the Cabinet.

HANS RUDELY SURPRISED BY THE TURN OF AFFAIRS

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 12.—Speaking in broken English and with an undoubted Teutonic accent, a man giving his name as Hans Schmidt, and his home as Toledo, Ohio, landed in Windsor to-day with the avowed intention of allying himself with forces of the Kaiser, which he had heard were being mobilized here.

Schmidt confided to Government officials at the ferry dock that he was looking for the German recruiting office and he seemed much surprised when he was turned over to the military guard and hustled off to the armory to be held until he can be transferred to an interior city, where he will be interned until the end of the war.

Schmidt informed the authorities that he "loved the Kaiser," and he supposed the recruiting posters were put up in behalf of the Fatherland. He said he had no idea that he was in Canada.

HAMLETT'S WIFE HAS FILED SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Elizabethtown, Ky., Feb. 11.—Suit for divorce was filed in the Hardin Circuit Court last night by Mrs. Daisy Hamlett against Barksdale Hamlett, former State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and now contesting the election of J. B. Lewis for Secretary of State.

In her petition Mrs. Hamlett charges cruel and inhuman treatment extending over a period of a year and asks the custody of their three children and $10,000 alimony.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamlett were married in this county in 1899. Mrs. Hamlett was Miss Daisy Crume, of this county, and has been here with her parents for some time.

ADVERTISE IN LOCAL PAPER, SAYS SPEAKER

Pittsburg, Penn., Feb. 8.—"Advertise," was the keynote of an address by President Matthias Ludlow, of Newark, N. J., at the opening session of the fifteenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania and Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Men's Association, here to-day.

"Advertise! The local field is yours," said President Ludlow. "An advertisement in your local paper will carry your message into hundreds of homes." Let the people know what you have for sale. This can only be done by advertising. You do not count for much unless people know about you. Advertise!"

Five hundred delegates from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and New York are present.

BOND BROTHERS BUY BIG TIMBER TRACT

What is said to be the finest timber tract in Western Kentucky was purchased last week by Bond Bros. of this city.

It lies near Greenville, in Muhlenberg county, and contains 2,600 acres. The price is withheld but is known to be at a high figure. Bond Bros. negotiated for the property several years before consummating its purchase.

Nearly all of the timber is fine white oak that is very valuable. The price amounts to many thousand dollars.—[Elizabethtown News.]

INTERFERING WITH LOVE,

Princeton, Ky., Feb. 14.—R. M. Tyrie, living just north of town, has received a note, together with a dynamite cap, warning him to have a certain young man of same locality to cease paying attentions of calling upon his daughter, and that if he failed to heed the warning he would be whipped and his house burned. The note was tied to the doorknob and signed "Possum Hunter."

PAROLE IS GIVEN NOTED PRISONER

Bert Wing the Subject Of Clemency.

WAS SERVING LIFE SENTENCE

In Frankfort Reformatory For the Murder Of Pretty Young Wife.

HE ESCAPED EIGHT YEARS AGO

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 12.—Bert Wing, one of the most noted prisoners in the Frankfort reformatory, has been paroled by the State Prison Commissioners. He was serving a life sentence for the murder of his beautiful young wife in Louisville twenty-five years ago.

On January 6, 1908, Wing made his escape from the Frankfort prison. He was a trusty and had been given work as a bookkeeper in the shoe factory. He was never required to wear stripes, and did not eat his meals with the other prisoners, being allowed to have them served to him in the hospital. Wing was allowed his liberty about the prison grounds. On the day of his escape, when the time came to close the gates of the prison, Wing and a negro prisoner did not return. All trace of Wing was lost. However, it was afterwards learned that he went to Owensboro, where he called on two or three of his friends and then left for Canada.

SERIOUS WOUND FROM A FRIEND

Delivered In Heartfelt Manner.

THEORY OF JACOB H. SCHIFF

Noted Republican Leader and Business Man, On Tariff and Preparedness.

DOG WEARING OUT MANY TAILS

(By Savoyard.)

Washington, Feb. 12.—Mr. Jacob H. Schiff ranks with the greatest and most successful business men the world ever saw. He is the controlling spirit of one of the most extensive banking houses in this or any other country. He has a genius for finance and for business and is a master of the difficult and intricate science of political economy. At a luncheon held at the Republican Club in New York the other day, Mr. Schiff delivered himself of the following:

"We have prosperity, and I believe it will last. We may have a slight setback at times, but it will continue after this terrible war is over. I am a man with a hyphen. I am a Republican-Democrat. I voted for Wilson, the first Democratic President I have voted for in fifty years. I want to say that my heart is with the Republicans, but my common sense is with the Democrats. We are prosperous and we will continue prosperous. Why, nothing can stop that great prosperity except tariff agitation. I feel this, and standing here on this holy Republican ground, I say that if you renew the tariff agitation in the next campaign and threaten the country again with a high protective tariff, the people will have none of it. I say this, not because I love the Republican party less, but because I love it more."

That was strange preachment in that society, the very aristocracy of the Republican party, coming as it did from one of the pillars of the party. But Mr. Schiff went further and astounded his Republican associates with this tremendous thought:

"If you think we need preparedness, I will tell you how we can avoid it—by stopping the necessity for war; and wars will never cease so long as custom-houses exist. This is an economic war and an endeavor to find new markets. The fight for them will never stop until we have world free trade."

That was rubbing it in with a vengeance, and Mr. Chauncey Depew felt called upon to advocate the old worn-out dogma of protection. But nobody ever took Chauncey seriously, though he is the man who decided for Harrison in 1888, when James G. Blaine ordered the national convention to nominate either Harrison or Allison.

One thing is certain, and that is that the Republican party cannot get along if it alienates those of its number who act with and think as John H. Schiff acts and thinks. He is not alone. He represents a numerous and a powerful class, and here he is proclaiming himself an out-and-out free trader. Garfield, chosen to the Presidency by the Republican party, was free trader enough to belong to the Cobden Club of London. Roosevelt, another Republican President, preached free trade in his voluminous writings. William B. Allison made the first free trade speech Congress heard after the war of 1861-65. John Sherman stigmatized our protected manufacturers as "robber barons." Jonathan P. Doliver, the greatest Senator Iowa ever had in Congress, died a free trader. James G. Blaine apologized for a protective tariff by suggesting reciprocity, which is free trade by treaty instead of by act of Congress.

Our own marvelous career as a people is a vindication of the principle of free trade, which has been practiced for more than six-score years by the States of our Union among themselves. But for that wise provision in our Federal constitution there would be numerous nationalities carved out of the States of our Union. The war of 1861-65 was fought on the part of the North as much to preserve free trade among the States as it was to abolish African slavery. Nay, more. The North would not have shed a drop of blood to free the negro—it was to save the Union that the North fought.

Greater men than Mr. Schiff, some of the most powerful thinkers and profoundest sages of the world, have preached that the way to abolish war, disband armies, dismantle fortresses and scrap navies is to establish universal free trade throughout the world. Then will follow the brotherhood of man, and not till then. For ages wars in Europe were the fruits of quarrels, as personal as political, between dynasties. Frederick the Great spoke slightly of a harlot at the court of Louis XV., and a long and bloody war came of it. Charles V., Francis I. and Henry VIII. set armies in the field to slay and be slain as the result of petty jealousies and quarrels among the three of them. But that sort of thing is impossible now. Wars are made by peoples and lust of trade is the great moving cause.

If every people enjoyed free trade with every other people, as it exists between the States of our Union, each community would produce what it could fashion or grow cheapest and exchange it for what others could produce cheapest. That is what caused our Union to become so powerful and so opulent. Bismarck saw it, seized it, and adopted it. Until he became supreme every petty and great German State had a tariff against every other petty and great German State, and Germany was as poor as poverty. Bismarck established free trade between all the States of the Empire he created and Germany waxed in wealth and power even faster than we.

Proctor Knott used to set the table in a roar repeating a criticism Mr. Lige Pinkston passed on a dog which culminated this way:

"Men, that ar dog will set on his hanches till he wears out a thousand tails barkin' up a tree there's nothin' in."

I fear Mr. Schiff is barking up a tree there's nothing in it if he imagines the Republican party is going to abandon the dogma of a high and exorbitant and outrageous robber tariff.

Men of Mr. Schiff's ideas will not make the platform. Pennsylvania will fashion that.

HAVE ADOPTED A GIRL AND NOW WANT A BOY

Both Of Whom Will Inherit Vast Wealth Of Childless Couple.

Baltimore, Md., February 12.—Frank Novak, wealthy East Baltimore real estate dealer, and his wife are looking for a fair-haired boy to become the playmate of the little dark-haired girl they have just adopted. They expect to make the adopted children heirs to their large fortune.

The little girl, who has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Novak since the first of January, has dark hair, and was chosen because she resembles Mrs. Novak, for whom she will be named. Therefore the little boy must have fair hair and resemble Novak, for whom he will be named as soon as he is found and the legal proceedings incident to the adoption of the two children have been completed in the Circuit Court.

"You see, I have to have some one to leave my money to," Novak explained at his office this morning. "We didn't have any children, and and we are very fond of them."

Mrs. Novak looks ahead in planning for her little girl. "Oh, I dare say she will be lots of trouble to me before she is married—of course, she'll marry.

"Perhaps you'll laugh at me for being romantic. I hope that she will fall in love with the boy and that he will marry her. They can just as well as you, know, for they will be no earthly relation to each other."

The Novaks' fortune is estimated to be near $1,000,000.

Used To It.

A stranger became one of a group of listeners to a veteran of many battles, says Postmaster General Burleson, in the Kansas City Journal. The veteran had about concluded a vividly colored narrative of furious battle, in which he had taken part.

"Just think of it," exclaimed one of the party, turning to the stranger. "How would you like to stand with shells bursting all around you?"

"I have been there," responded the newcomer.

"What? Have you, too, been a soldier?"

"No," answered the stranger. "I am an actor."

NO OPPOSITION FOR PRESIDENT

And His Renomination Is Expected.

HAS FORMALLY ENTERED RACE

On the Authority Of Secretary
Tumulty, Wilson's Name
Is Presented.

IS PUT ON INDIANA BALLOT

St. Louis, Feb. 9.—That President Wilson would be renominated without opposition was the consensus of opinion of members of the subcommittee of the Democratic National Committee, who met here to arrange details for the Democratic National Convention.

The committeemen agreed in advance of the meeting not to select a temporary chairman, and that task probably will not be taken up until May. Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, however, is being discussed as a possible choice for temporary chairman, the committeemen thinking it would be fitting that the State in which the convention is held should furnish the temporary presiding officer.

The committee met shortly before noon in executive session and this afternoon inspected the Coliseum, considering desirable alterations.

Chairman McCombs said that President Wilson would be renominated and that no opposition to him had developed in any quarter.

The committee adopted a resolution to invite former National Committeemen to attend the convention as honor guests.

A number of subcommittees appointed will continue their meetings here to-morrow.

Another meeting of the Committee on Arrangements will be held in New York City in about six weeks, Mr. McCombs said. Early in May this committee will open permanent headquarters in St. Louis with J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana, in charge.

FORMAL ENTRY INTO RACE.

Indianapolis, Feb. 9.—On the authority of Secretary Tumulty, President Wilson's name was placed on the Indiana primary ballot as the only candidate for the Democratic nomination for President on January 7, the last day for filing by candidates. The petition to place the name of President Wilson on the ballot had been circulated previously, but held up pending word from Washington as to the desire of the President.

No word had been received the night before the final day for filing petitions, and Democratic leaders here called Secretary Tumulty on the long-distance telephone. The President's secretary authorized the filing of Mr. Wilson's name and the petition was handed the Secretary of State. The primary will be held March 7.

WOULD THAT ALL BOYS MIGHT HEED THIS ADVICE

Remember, my son, that you have to work. Whether you handle a pick or pen, a wheel-barrow or a set of books, digging or editing a paper, ringing an auction bell or writing funny things, you must work. If you look around, you will see the men who are most able to live the rest of their lives without work are the men who worked the hardest.

Don't be afraid of killing yourself with any overwork. It is beyond your power to do that on the sunny side of thirty. They die sometimes, but it is because they leave work at 6 p.m. and don't get home till midnight. It is the interval that kills, my son. The work gives you an appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday.

"Just think of it," exclaimed one of the party, turning to the stranger. "How would you like to stand with shells bursting all around you?"

"I have been there," responded the newcomer.

"What? Have you, too, been a soldier?"

"No," answered the stranger. "I am an actor."

A woman will always act on a man's advice if he advises her to do as she thinks best.

The busier you are the less harm you will be apt to get into, the sweater will be your sleep, the brighter and happier your holidays, and the better satisfied will all the world be with you.—[Robert J. Burdette.]

GERMANY CLAIMS SHE HAS 1,429,171 PRISONERS

Berlin, Feb. 10 (By Wireless to Sayville)—"A total of 1,429,171 enemy soldiers to date are prisoners of war in Germany," the Overseas News Agency announced to-day. "This is not inclusive of prisoners made by German troops and left in Austria-Hungary in order to shorten the transport.

"In addition 19,700 cannon, 7,700

military carriages and 3,000 machine guns have been conveyed to Germany, these not including numerous cannon and machine guns destroyed by the enemy before capture and those used at once by German troops.

"The number of rifles taken which are still fit for use is 1,300,000."

BURNED ALIVE IN OIL— MESSAGE FROM ARMENIA

Washington, Feb. 10.—The Senate to-day adopted a resolution proposed by Senator Lodge requesting the President to set apart a day on which the public might contribute to the relief of distressed Armenians.

During discussion of the resolution Senator Borah sent to the desk a press dispatch from Petrograd, dated January 18, in which Dr. Joseph Stargis, an American Methodist medical missionary, who had escaped from Urumiah, in Turkish Persia, when threatened by the Kurds, told of the death of a Dr. Shimmum, declared to be an American missionary. The dispatch said that Dr. Shimmum was burned to death in oil.

WANTS WOMEN INDICTED FOR PARLOR GAMBLING

New Jurist Denounces Society

Methods in His Charge to Grand Jury.

Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 10.—Judge Carl Henderson, of Marion, gave some specific instructions to the grand jury here when the Hopkins Circuit Court convened in Madisonville, relative to the society gambling that was being carried on in all cities and towns, and urged the grand jury to investigate all bridge parties and indict every society woman that was a player of cards and winning prizes. He stated that you might read in any paper where a card game had been played in high society and some prize had been won.

He said these society women had much more influence on the city and town than a lower class had, and it was the duty of the grand jury to probe the card games and stop this terrible crime.

He told the grand jury in charge that too much time was taken up with the poor negro and a class of that nature, where it was a game for something to eat and wear, and the higher society ladies played for the booty as well as the poor negro, and they were never molested.

"Indict every woman, no matter who she is, if she is caught playing cards for booty, and stop this terrible crime of teaching boys to be gamblers and then drunkards," he said.

The card table is the ruination of many a boy, and that card table is in the home, and after years the mother wants to know how her son ever learned to be such a notorious wreck.

Investigate the society gambling first and then go after the poor negro and the ignorant class of people."

An Apt Reply.

A lady received the following reply from a neighbor in answer to the question why she allowed her children and husband to litter up every room in the house, and the sentiment will find lodgment in the heart of every home-loving person in the land: "The mark of the little muddy feet upon the floor can be easier removed than the stain when these little feet go down into

PARIS GREEN IS NEARLY EXTINGUISHED

Deadliest Enemy Of the Potato Bug

NOW NO LONGER MADE HERE

Constituent Element Of Its Manufacture Now Priced
Very High.

ALSO FELT IN PAINT TRADE

In the balmy springtime, when the sap flows and the cuckoo carols to its mate, it has long been the custom of the "baseball bug" to claim the day as his. Things have changed, however. The potato and the baseball bug have engaged in fearful conflict, and indications are that friend potato bug has put one over with a vengeance.

Paris green, deadliest enemy of the potato bug, is no longer obtainable in this country. The extinction was effected gradually. To-day there is less than 500 pounds of Paris green in this country and the holders of the goods demand all the way from 21 to 50 cents per pound, according to the quantity desired.

Urgent inquiries for the product are heard from Louisville and elsewhere.

Prior to this year all the Paris green sold in this country was produced early in January and February.

No manufacturing operations of any kind have been undertaken since, as manufacturers have been unable to secure sufficient quantities of blue vitriol, or sulphate of copper, as well as arsenic, for its manufacture.

Where a manufacturer was accustomed to buy upward of 200,000 pounds of blue vitriol a few months ago as low as 3@4 cents a pound, he is to-day paying 16@17 cents a pound, and is unable to secure as much as 10,000 or 15,000 pounds with any degree of certainty.

Insecticide manufacturers, being unable to prognosticate how high the price for blue vitriol will go have therefore decided to discontinue the manufacture of Paris green this season.

This will not only make for additional worries on the part of planters all over the country, but will be felt in the paint trade, where it is occasionally sold to the ultra-fashionables, who have a particular leaning for its light emerald green color when applied to blinds, window screens and other parts of the domicile.

THE PILGRIMAGE OF KROO PEOPLE

Wild Tribe Seeking Advice of the Devil.

WEIRD RITES OF IGNORANCE

Case Of One Man, Persecuted and Cast Out, But Standing Firm.

WISE MAN WHO FOUND TRUTH

Walter B. and Maude Williams missionaries of the Methodist Board at Nanan Kroo, Liberia, tell this interesting story of the strange, weird pilgrimage of the men of Kroo land and of the other wise Kroo man who found the light:

"It was a long road and a strange one that the Wise Men of the East traversed, but it led them to Light and Truth and Life."

"In Kroo land a score of unwise men have been traversing a long road and a strange one, and it has led them to denser darkness and lies and ultimate death. As early as August the pilgrimage began. They passed the mission, a long line of men, heavily laden with brass kettles, cloth, and such like 'Kroo money,' their objective being a big devil-doctor in the far, far bush, so far that it took them two months to reach his place and two months to return.

"During part of this time the heavy rains—determined by nothing in their season—have fallen. These rains come with a rush and a roar in a minute, blotting out the landscape, turning roads into rivers, and rivers into floods. Through two months of such rain these unwise men have gone on their pilgrimage, solemnly pledged to sleep in the bush, or in broken-down, abandoned houses. No salt-seasoned food has been eaten. And to a Kroo man salt means everything. Homes, farms, wives, children, have been left behind, deprivations willingly undergone, an exhausting journey undertaken—all for the sake of buying a strange devil-doctor's advice concerning native wars which their own devil-doctors have started and cannot stop.

"The Wise Men, led by the star, found the CHRIST. These unwise men found the DEVIL. The former returned to their homes "another way." The latter came back by the same old dark, fearsome road, hedged in by witchcraft on the one hand and by violence and death on the other.

"You remember Dr. Van Dyke's 'Other Wise Man' who did not reach the Christ Child in the Bethlehem manger, but to whom Christ himself later came. In this Kroo pilgrimage, one man who was chosen by his tribe, would not go, because that very night Christ came to him. He saw no vision, but he said to us, 'God told my spirit that the thing we were to do was not good, so I saw not fit to do it.' His family pleaded with him, his ward people threatened him, his town rose up against him, and the other tribes joined in the uproar, but he stood firm. His wife and child left him, the town people ate the rice from his farm, broke open his boxes, divided among themselves his clothes and other belongings, and drove him out of the town, penniless and home-

HAS EARLINGTON FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer Is Found in the Straightforward Statement of An Earlington Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Hartford citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring town. This frank and earnest statement by a well known and respected resident of Earlington will set this doubt at rest.

Mrs. Pearl Walton, Earlington, Ky., says: "I suffered from weak kidneys. I did not pay much attention to the trouble at first, but when I found that I had little control over the kidney secretions, I knew that something must be done. My rest was broken at night and in the morning I was tired and worn-out. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and my kidneys have been in good condition since."

less. In this condition he came straight to our mission.

"Thank God that his church in the United States has put this city of refuge in the center of the Kroo coast. Here, if he wishes, he can sleep and eat and attend school with our boys. Or, if his wife comes back to him, he can use a well-built house in the Christian town and make a small farm within the mission fence, safe from all outside interference. He made a good stand and has suffered the loss of all material things for God. Pray with us that he may go on in the Lord's way and not be drawn back into heathen practices."

FIRING TOBACCO WILL LIKELY BE ABANDONED

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 12.—Because fired tobacco has sold at such low prices this season in comparison with unfired tobacco, growers of this county say they will not fire their crops this year.

In past years fired tobacco has brought top prices, because the American Tobacco Company, exclusive buyers of unfired tobacco, has been out of the local market, and growers were compelled to fire their crops to dispose of same. During the past five years 90 per cent. of tobacco sold here has been exported to Ireland, England, Scotland, Italy and Austria. Foreign buyers will not purchase unfired tobacco, but this year the growers who had unfired weed have been paid well, while others have kicked vigorously because fired weed has not been selling up to the standard.

TOUGH EXPERIENCE OF RUSSIAN STOWAWAYS

Spent Fourteen Days in Bags on Ship Bound For America can Port.

It was positively uncanny—the way that bag wriggled. The astonished sailor poked his lantern among the boxes in the ship's hold and jumped back with a shout. He ran up to the steerage deck of the Czaritsa and bellowed for help from the night watches.

"It moves like a ghost," he told the superstitious crew of the Russian-American Liner.

They clumped down the stairway and ripped open the burlap bag which the sailor indicated. The lantern light shone on the dirty face of a young stowaway. They pulled him out of his retreat by the hair and one shouted:

"He's a Jew! Let's see if there are any more of them."

The sailors discovered two more stowaways in bags. Their thin, Semitic faces denied the fact that they were only young lads. For 14 days and nights they had lived in terror within burlap containers, only to be caught a few hours before they would land on American soil.

The stowaways told their story after the Czaritsa docked at Brooklyn. Their homes were in Grodno and Mohileff, in the interior of Russia, and they escaped in the nick of time from conscription into the army. Nights they had crawled from village to village, with faces set toward Archangel. They learned the Czaritsa was to sail, and they pooled their rubles, to obtain which their families had sold their furniture and possessions, and bribed John Weiss, a sailor.

In the stifling hold of the ship they counted the eternal days. Only at midnight did they venture from their bags to forage like so many rats for scraps of food. Then for another day they went back into the burlap containers.

Distressing Conditions.

There are 471,877 women and children of Japan employed in factories. Of these 22 per cent are under 14 years old. Many work fifteen hours a day, in unhealthy conditions. The rate of mortality among them is three times normal.

The government, the Christian Church, and non-Christian committees are all attempting to change these startling conditions. Agencies are being started for work among orphans, lepers, discharged prisoners and consumptives. The Conference of Federated Missions is collecting facts and statistics of social conditions and recommends the development of settlements in contested centers.

GIRL WHO FELL SIXTEEN STORIES

Tells How It Feels Going Through Air.

FELT A SICKENING FAINTNESS

At First — Then Saw Streaky Whiteness Of the Vanishing Buildings.

AND LIVED TO TELL ABOUT IT

To fall 16 stories is to realize the closeness of death; to feel the sickening sensation of a calamity that cannot be prevented.

To-day, for the first time since she plunged from a window near the roof of the Transportation Building January 24, Minnie Werner was able to tell of her experience.

Miss Werner's story was narrated to her sister Edith, who has been a constant attendant at her bedside in St. Luke's Hospital.

"I was conscious," she said. "I remember distinctly how I felt from the moment I lost my balance until I struck."

"I did not intend to jump. I felt dizzy and went upstairs to the restroom. When I reached there I could not make out the details of my surroundings. I rushed to the window for air. The next thing I knew was when I fell myself falling."

The girl shot down into the chasm of Federal street poised like a diver. Her body described an arc outward from the window sill, carrying her toward the center of the street.

Her sensation was not that of falling during the first instant of her plunge. It seemed that the street was rocketing upward, that the buildings, upside down and wavering, were tumbling in upon her.

That thought flashed across her brain in an instant, then came the terrible realization so common in nightmares: She was hurtling through a void, perfectly conscious, able to scream, able to see her circumstances, able even to move her hands—and she did move them—but unable to stop the calamity that loomed below.

She felt the sickening faintness characteristic of drops in elevators. There was a vacuum in her lungs as though a great pressure had been suddenly applied to her chest.

The rush of the air drew out her eyelids and half blinded her. There was a ringing in her ears and a smarting tingle all over her body.

In the second stage of her fall—as the acceleration became greater—only generalities of her surroundings came to her, the streaky whiteness of the building past which she was falling, the muddy blackness of the street, a scream buried in a great roar.

She did not see the auto truck which saved her life. She did not know it was there until she was exonerated by the police from the wreckage of its load of paper boxes that acted as a cushion and saved her life.

The streaky white blended almost instantly with the black, and her sight failed her altogether.

The thoughts that crossed her mind as she dropped were jumbled like those of a terrible dream, but those that she recalls upset the commonly accepted theories regarding the ideas of a person facing death.

"Did you jump?" a policeman asked her. Her lips moved and the policeman thought he heard her answer. "I fell." Police took her to St. Luke's Hospital, expecting that she would die on the way.

Miss Werner will return to the home of her mother and sisters, 2417 North Washington avenue, in a few days. Her most serious injury was a broken shoulder, that will not cause her much inconvenience.

STRENGTH OF MANHOOD IS NEEDED NOWADAYS

Small boys often conceive the false idea that it is manly to chew tobacco, smoke and swear. Older boys and young men are prone to conclude that moral integrity and religious purity are elements of weakness whilst immorality and infidelity are evidences of strength. No greater fallacies ever entered the human mind. Which is stronger, the boy or young man who resists temptation and does right, or the one who yields and does wrong? The one who resists strong drink and lives a sober, useful life, or the one who panders to appetite and becomes a miserable drunkard? Which is the stronger, the one who honors his Maker by keeping himself pure in thought and word and deed, or he who dishonors God by defiling himself in mind and speech and conduct? Who does not know that it requires strength of purpose, of will-power, of mind to say to the tempter, "begone!" and to resist the devil till he flees away? Who does not know that his evil deeds are the results of his moral cowardice?

RUM AND MAHOGANY—TRADING WITH NATIVES

What will the schooners, laden with New England rum for West Africa, bring home? That question may have puzzled many who have noted the strange revival of the rum traffic that used to flourish in the slavery days. It may have been thought that the rum paid for the round voyage. A four-masted schooner, the first to go out, has now returned to Boston with 486,673 feet of mahogany in logs from West Africa, a cargo of no small value.

The round voyage has consumed seven months, the loading of the mahogany being a slow process, owing to the indolence of West African labor.

At the dock was another capacious windjammer ready to sail with 200,000 gallons of rum, 1,500 barrels of flour and other things that the natives seem to be in need of.

As many as six sailing vessels have entered this trade since last spring.—[Providence Journal.]

Don't Make Curiosity Telephone Calls

It is beyond the bounds of possibility to answer promptly the mass of curiosity telephone calls that threaten to swamp our exchanges every time there is a large fire.

Calls for physicians, the ambulance or the police, held up at such times might result in the loss of human life.

As political matters are shaping up now, Col. Roosevelt will either be the nominee of the Republicans for President or he will name the man who is nominated for this office. Not a single old-line Republican has yet been named in this connection who is considered strong enough to control their convention. The Republicans are reduced to the rather humiliating attitude of having to knuckle to a man who just after their last national convention they denounced as a political crook and renegade. Teddy is yet in the saddle and his hat is in the ring.

One of the most encouraging evidences of a new nationalism, displaying a fine spirit of encouragement for native labor, is the announcement that one of the big motor companies will in the future employ only American citizens as laborers. Nearly all the strikes and labor troubles of recent years have occurred where foreigners were employed. Besides this, the foreign laborer will work for less money than the American toiler, thus putting the latter to a distressing disadvantage. The new movement is not specifically opposed to immigration but is rather an exemplification of the idea "America for Americans."

Mr. Jacob H. Schiff, the noted New York financial authority, is quoted as saying, when discussing tariff revision: "I want to say that my heart is with the Republicans, but my common sense is with the Democrats." Merging into the subject of national success nowadays, he said: "Why, nothing can stop this great prosperity except tariff agitation." And he was speaking to a crowd of his political compatriots—all Republicans. But Mr. Schiff knew the men whom he was speaking to and that they would not heed his advice. With Republican leaders the tariff is not a matter of common sense. They regard it more as a political football.

Some newspapers and party leaders, in their determination to criticize President Wilson, seem to lose sight of the fact that in these troublous times patriotism and loyalty to the head of our nation should surmount every other consideration. Unless death should intervene, Mr. Wilson will certainly be our President for more than a year yet. There are thousands of men scattered over the country who do not agree with his ideas politically. But this should not prejudice their attitude towards him as the Chief of our Army and Navy. If our nation should become involved in war while he is President, all citizens should be ready to give him their loyal support.

Preaching from the text, John xiv., "Greater works than these shall ye do," Rev. Dr. John T. Thomas, a Louisville pastor, declared his belief that Christ meant exactly what He said, and that supporting orphanages, relieving the distressed and doing other like kindnesses, was greater than performing miracles. The eminent divine is eminently right. The whole Christian religion is based upon love for humanity and the bringing of peace and rest to mind and body. The exegesis of the love of God is love of your fellowman, of whatever station. The relief of physical needs is as much an expression of that love as it is in bringing peace to the soul by religious preachers.

THE COUNTRY WEEKLY FAST GROWING BETTER

The latest newspaper statistics show that there are 148 publications less in the United States to-day than there were last year at this time. These statistics also claim that the greatest mortality among publications has been in the field of the weeklies.

Some may construe this as an ill-omen and assert that the day of the country weekly has passed. Of course such a statement is absurd on the face of it, as the number of healthy and worthy country weeklies now flourishing will testify without further argument.

What the figures do show, however, is that the newspaper which is conducted without good business methods cannot survive. Methods and adherence to strict business principles are the foundation stones upon which success is built in every business nowadays, and this applies to the newspaper business more than to any other.

Furthermore, the decrease in the quantity of weeklies published means that "any old thing" won't do. Quality is what is desired, not quantity.

If there are fewer weeklies of the kind that are slipshod, so much the better for those that are conducted in the right way.

The country weekly will never die. It has its well appointed place in the affairs of the American people. On the contrary, the country weekly, particularly the all-home-print country weekly, is growing greater in the estimation of newspaper readers from day to day. It is only the chaff that is falling by the wayside. [The American Press.]

A Worthy Movement.

As I understand, there is a law which prevents the two telephone companies here from consolidating, so the home company could have all the local business and some other company handle the long distance business. There is a bill before the Senate now and if it should pass the Senate and House, it will then be up to the people to vote on the amendment to the Constitution.

Personally I believe such an amendment should be submitted and adopted. It is a home rule measure and can do no harm. It could not be voted on until 1917, the year I go out of office, but its passage would be of advantage to Hartford and Ohio county people who want local and long distance service for the price of one telephone.

J. C. ILER.
Ed. Note.—If this can be done and the price of the single phone system remain the same the consolidation would mean a big saving to the local patrons.

ROCKPORT.

Feb. 12.—The body of Mr. Knight, of Muhlenberg county, was found last Thursday morning. Several days ago Mr. Knight left home to go to Paradise for his mail, and from the time he left home until his body was found in Jacob's creek, not a great distance from Paradise on the morning of the 10th of February, nothing was known of him. The river has subsided and it is possible for the farmers to begin to look after fencing and other matters pertaining to the next crop.

HENRY AULL DIES AT BOWLING GREEN HOME

Mr. Henry Aull, a well known and popular druggist of Bowling Green, Ky., died at his home in that city last Friday evening after a lingering illness of stomach trouble, which it is said had developed into cancer of the stomach. Some months ago he went to a noted sanatorium and was operated on, but the surgeons could give him no relief.

Mr. Aull was well known in Hartford and was born at Sulphur Spring, this county. About thirty years ago he came to Hartford and for some time was a drug clerk for Mr. J. W. Ford. While living here he married Miss May Moseley.

Leaving here, Mr. Aull went to Auburn, Ky., and engaged in the drug business for himself. Shortly afterward he sold this drug store to his father, Mr. A. S. Aull, and went into the drug business at Bowling Green, where he prospered and attained considerable wealth. His wife died several years ago. His oldest daughter, Miss Martine, married Mr. George H. Moseley, of Bowling Green. His youngest daughter, Miss Virginia, who lived at home, and his father, Mr. A. S. Aull, of Auburn, also survive. His wife was a niece of Capt. and Mrs. S. K. Cox, of Hartford, and a sister of Mrs. Dr. J. C. Hoover, of Owensboro. Mr. Aull's mother-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Moseley, also survives and lives with her daughter, Mrs. Hoover.

No man ever had more friends than Henry Aull. Genial, accommodating and always wearing a pleasant countenance, he was liked by everybody who knew him. He was about 52 years of age at the time of his death. His pleasant companionship and loyal friendship will be long remembered by the many friends he left behind.

RULES HOW TO LIVE TO BE 100

Are Very Simple and Easy To Follow.

PHILOSOPHY OF CENTENARIAN

Who Is a Republican But Likes
Wilson On Business Principles.

HE MAY VOTE FOR WOODROW

How to live to be 100 years old is told by "Uncle Cape" Stanley, the centenarian of Downers Grove.

Here are some of the rules that have governed his own life, 74 years of which have been lived in Chicago's western suburb:

Mind your own business.

Don't quarrel with your neighbors.

Pay for what you get when you get it.

Live within your means.

Laugh every time you find something to laugh at.

Don't eat between meals.

Eat plain food and plenty of it.

Don't drink intoxicating liquors.

Don't smoke or chew tobacco.

Keep up your interest in the news of the world.

Go to bed early with a clear conscience and get up with the birds.

Sleep eight to nine hours out of the 24.

Don't worry about things you can't help.

Work and exercise outdoors as much as possible.

Keep your thoughts pure.

Memorize Bible verses.

* Remember your obligations to your Creator.

During the interview, which lasted almost an hour the other afternoon, Mr. Stanley took a keen interest in the comments made by his daughter, Mrs. Alice S. Edwards, and his wife, who celebrated her eightieth birthday on Christmas Day. Up to within one week ago, when he was attacked by the grippe, from which he is now suffering, he read the newspapers every morning. He said he could read the headlines without glasses.

"I've always been a Republican," he said, "but I like Wilson because he minds his own business."

"Will you vote for Wilson next election?" he was asked.

"Well," he said, after a slight pause, "if I feel as I do now, I'll vote for Wilson next November."

"Father has never tasted a drop of liquor in his life," said his daughter, Mrs. Edwards, with apparent pride.

"Oh, but that's not so," interrupted the old man.

"Why, father, you don't mean to say you ever drank a glass of liquor?" she cried.

"No, but I did taste it when you gave me that little dose as medicine when I had that cold," he replied.

"My father's life is a sermon showing the value of clean living," said Mrs. Edwards. "I want my boy to follow his example."

Stanley's mother lived until she was 97 years old and two of his brothers until they were 82 and 84 years old. He was married in 1856 and expects to celebrate his sixtieth wedding anniversary on October 22. Mrs. Stanley is enjoying excellent health.—[Chicago Herald.]

Height Of Atmosphere.

The atmosphere is said to extend at least 300 miles above the earth. The pressure of the air at sea level averages 14.7 pounds to the square inch, which corresponds to a reading of 29.92 inches of the barometer. At an altitude of 3.6 miles above sea level the density and pres-as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, a salve made by Dr. J. C. Givens, is a good article.

One of the writers of a stave quickly replied: "Hell, 'Squire, go down off that horse, get you a stave and fight for peace."

The Northern Baptists, in their recently adopted five-year program, have launched probably the most daring and ambitious plans for enlargement ever undertaken by any denomination. The objective is a five pointed goal, each point of which, with one exception, runs into six figures: (1) One million additions to the churches by baptism; (2) five thousand new missionaries, home and foreign; (3) two million dollars for relief of aged and infirm members; (4) six million dollars for education; sure of the air are reduced one half. That means that half the whole mass of atmosphere lies below this elevation. The atmosphere is "sound ed" by means of meteorological instruments attached to kites and balloons. The highest altitude ever attained by a kite was 4.51 miles above sea level, at Mt. Weather, Va., May 5, 1910; by a balloon 20.14 miles, at Uccle, Belgium, June 9, 1911.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

MESOPOTAMIA.

To those who know something of the history of this, "the oldest land in the world," the word Mesopotamia is full of meaning and recollection. Far and away, back beyond the time of tradition, into the time of myth, and across that to its first beginnings, to the "back of beyond," as an Irishman might impressively put it, the history of this land stretches. The Hittites, the Arameans, the Babylonians, the Assyrians—Mesopotamia crossed and recrossed by the "endless marches of Assyrian Kings" building and rebuilding the Assyrian Empire—these were the very early times, largely mythical, more largely still traditional with gleams here and there of established fact.

The student of this period greets with a curious welcome such names as Nebuchadnezzar, Tiglath-Pileser and Shalmaneser. Then follows the coming of the Persians and the story of Cyrus, the Persian hosts on their way through the river country to conquer Greece. Later still, the march of the Greek hosts, under Alexander; then the Greek period, followed by the Roman period; the struggles against the Roman authority, the Parthian period and the Sassanian period; the Caliphate and, finally, the coming of the Ottoman Turk. Such are the great pylons in the history of the country. For the rest, since the coming of the Turk down to the present day, it is silence.

Now, after a lapse of something like 2,000 years, Mesopotamia is once again traversed by great armies. It is true that Sir John Nixon's force is small compared with the forces of Cyrus or Alexander the Great, but the resources at his disposal are great and the issue at stake immediately greater than that involved in any of the wars of conquest of bygone times. For many months past the British expeditionary force has been making good its ground at the head of the Persian Gulf. Here, as elsewhere, the world had almost grown accustomed to what looked like stagnation. Then, with an unexpectedness characteristic of such movements, came Mr. Austen Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons, telling of Gen. Nixon's march, and adding the words which are likely to become historic, that the Turkish forces were in full flight toward Bagdad, the British force pursuing.

Tigris and Euphrates are two names bound up with some of the greatest movements and events in history. This present movement, the great sweep north of the Anglo-Indian forces under Gen. Nixon, is not below the standard of importance set by its predecessors. Few would care to forecast events in this district, more than usually full as it is, alike of possibilities and uncertainty, but speculation here is certainly fraught with more than usual interest.—[Christian Scientist Monitor.]

When constive or troubled with constipation take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

PREPAREDNESS VIEWS ARE WELL ILLUSTRATED

The Henderson Gleaner relates the following story:

Once upon a time, in the distant past, when the present Governor, A. O. Stanley and Judge C. C. Givens were candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district, the latter told a story in the "jint sputte" here at the court house which adequately illustrates the necessity of preparedness. Judge Givens' story runs thuswise:

Down in Hopkins county in a stave mill camp some eight or ten of the hands got drunk one Saturday afternoon and were laboring each other with convenient staves.

An old 'Squire, or justice of the peace of that neck of the woods, came riding by on his horse. He saw there was exceedingly great trouble with the possibilities of a killing, and without dismounting, yelled out three or four times:

"Hey, thar! I command the men to stop this at once!"

One of the writers of a stave quickly replied: "Hell, 'Squire, go down off that horse, get you a stave and fight for peace."

SINGING OF OLD HYMN ENDS BITTER QUARREL

Former Enemies Embrace As Compromise of Church Case Is Announced.

Princeton, Ind., Feb. 11.—A climax as sensational as the trial itself late yesterday closed the bitter three days' hearing of the Rev. C. P. Beadle, "Hardshell" Baptist minister, before Justice Isaac Wright, at Ft. Branch. Beadle was charged with disturbing public worship, the outgrowth of a meeting Sunday to try "conspiracy" charges of a faction against Beadle, and in which seven arrests were made.

Lawyers for both sides unexpectedly agreed to a compromise, the testimony was halted and announcement made that Beadle had agreed to resign as pastor, yielding to the Rev. E. D. Ragon, who had been chosen his successor by a majority, and to turn over the church keys which he had seized after he and his faction had "churched" all the officials in the faction opposing him.

Cheers and loud "amens" burst from all sides in the thronged lodge hall where court was being held. Prosecutor Oscar Lamphier made a speech in which he deprecated church dissensions and said he hoped and believed the "hatchet" had now been buried forever in that congregation.

"Amen!" shouted Defense Attorney Morton McDonald, an active Methodist, while hand-clapping, cheers and "amens" again burst out all over the house.

Somebody started "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," and in a moment the whole big house was joining in on the old hymn, none "coming stronger" than Judge Wright and the attorneys on both sides. Members of the opposing factions who had been at loggerheads for months and at each others' throats for three days, shook hands and embraced each other.

An Anti-Climax.

Judge Moses Wright, the eloquent good roads champion of Georgia, said, in Rome:

"After the roads of the Old World, the New World's roads are a terrible anti-climax. In our elevators and typewriters and telephones we are far in advance of the Old World, but to pass from their roads to ours is to be let down like the new boarder."

"How's the grub here?" a new boarder asked genially, rubbing his hands, at the dinner table of a Rome boarding house.

"Well, friend, we have chicken every morning," an old boarder grunted.

"Chicken every morning!" The new boarder positively beamed. "Chicken every morning. And how is it served?"

"In the shell," grunted the old boarder.

A Used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy For 20 Years.

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in my household for the past twenty years. I began giving it to my children when they were small. As a quick relief for croup, whooping cough, and ordinary colds, it has no equal. Being free from opium and other harmful drugs, I never felt afraid to give it to the children. I have recommended it to a large number of friends and neighbors, who have used it and speak highly of it," writes Mrs. Mary Minke, Shortsville, N. Y. Obtaining everywhere.

A Conflict.

"What brought you here, my poor fellow?" a missionary asked a convict.

"I married a new woman, sir," the prisoner groaned.

"Aha!" said the missionary. "And she was so domineering and extravagant that it drove you to desperation, eh?"

"No," replied the prisoner, "but the old woman turned up."

THE DARING PROGRAM OF NORTHERN BAPTISTS

The Northern Baptists, in their recently adopted five-year program, have launched probably the most daring and ambitious plans for enlargement ever undertaken by any denomination. equipment and endowment at home and abroad; (5) six million dollars annual income for missions and bequests.

The scheme, stupendous as it is, has been soberly worked out and earnestly undertaken. For the next five years the united energy of this great denomination will be bent on making the campaign a success. Dean Shaler Matthews, of the University of Chicago, is chairman of the committee in charge.

THE MONEYLESS MAN.

(Henry T. Stanton.)

Is there no secret place on the face of the earth

Where charity dwelleth, where virtue hath birth?

Where bosoms in mercy and kindness will heave

And the poor and the wretched shall ask and receive?

Is there no place on earth where a knock from the poor

Will bring a kind angel to open the door?

Ah! search the wide world wherever you can,

There's no opening found for a moneyless man.

Go look in your hall, where the chandelier's light

Drives off, with its splendor, the darkness of night,

Where the rich hanging velvet in shadowy fold

Sweeps gracefully down with its trimmings of gold;

And the mirrors of silver take up and renew,

In long lighted vistas, the 'wilder-

view—

Go there in your patches, and find,

if you can,

A welcoming smile for a moneyless man.

PEOPLE ARE ASKING QUESTIONS

Naturally no sane person cares "to jump out of the frying pan into the fire." Sane people always want to know, they are from Missouri and must be shown.

Since the matter of taking the State Superintendent of Public Instruction out of politics and of allowing him to succeed himself, has been widely discussed in the papers of the State, the sane people are asking themselves and other people questions. Some of them are asking, "If the office is taken out of politics and he is to succeed himself, will he be appointed by a board or will he be elected, and how?" Others are asking, "But if he is allowed to succeed himself in office mightn't a shrewd fellow get in and stay in forever and ever?" These questions are the ones which every sane taxpayer and voter in the State should ask himself.

Before answering these very pointed questions for the sane people of the State, it should be stated, and stated emphatically, that people everywhere are extremely anxious to get the schools and the whole school system out of politics. The point which bothers the parent and voter is: what is the best method so that definite results will be accomplished? If the legislature which convenes this winter should pass favorably on the amendment eliminating the name, "State Superintendent of Public Instruction," from the Constitution, it would still have to be voted upon by the people of the State at a regular election. After the amendment had been passed both by the legislature and the people, the manner of selecting or electing a superintendent would be taken up by the legislature of the State.

If the people acting through their representatives in the legislature, still wished to elect the State Superintendent, it could be done on an "off year" when no State officers were being elected. In other words, it would not then be possible for him to be swept into office because he happened to be on the Republican or Democratic ticket. To make the necessity for an election at other than a regular State election clear, it need only be stated that nine out of every ten men who go to the polls, never know even the names of the men who are running for the office of State Superintendent. If anyone doubts the absolute accuracy of this statement, he should ask himself and nine other men the names of the two men for whom the people voted for State Superintendent last November.

A second plan for the securing of an efficient man for this most important position would be to have him appointed by a strong, non-partisan School Board. It must, however, be understood thoroughly that such a board would have to represent the mass of people of the whole State as well as the school men and women. Either of the above cases, it would always be to the distinct advantage of the State Superintendent to "make good" so that he might continue in office. Under the present system he must hold the office for four years then go back to teaching or he must use his position to secure for himself some other political office.

That the schools, and especially the rural schools, must be gotten out of politics goes without saying. The people and the legislators are sure to see this in a big, broad, patriotic way and carry the amendment. Afterwards the legislature can surely be trusted to learn what other states are doing with this most important office and then decide what is best for the school children of the State. The time is now ripe to act, because the people and the men who will represent them at Frankfort this winter, will be more than willing to do anything in their power to further the interest of the children who can not help themselves.

HEALTH IS BASIS OF ALL CONTENT

The Half Sick Man Or Woman Is a Stranger to Happiness.

Contentment is the very essence of happiness. But, to be contented, or happy, if you will, one must first have good health.

Our supreme toast to the one we admire is "Health, wealth and happiness," and the keystone is health.

So many persons complain of being nervous and run down. This is the age of speed, we haven't time to care for ourselves. These run-down men and women are not exactly sick, but just tired out, languid or maybe good-for-nothing most of the time. Their business, their home and their life suffer.

They need something to build them up, something to throw off these symptoms of a weakened, debilitated condition produced by either mental or physical overwork or by the abuse of a vital organ—more often the stomach than any other.

That something has been found. It is Tanlac. A tonic of rare properties, an appetizer and general invigorant that rids the system of congestion, tones up the stomach, overcoming indigestion, headaches, backaches, non-assimilation of food, nervousness, dizziness, ailments of kidneys and liver, and the complaints that are so common to the half sick, debilitated men and women of to-day.

Its effect is like lifting your spirits gently back to the level of the world's happiness that rests on health.

Tanlac may be obtained now in Hartford, at the Ohio County Drug Co.'s drug store, L. C. Morton & Son, Centertown, Z. Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam, where its properties cheerfully are explained to all callers.—Advertisement.

AFFAIRS AT HICKMAN GETTING BACK NORMAL

Hickman, Ky., Feb. 11.—The winter is now out of all the stores in the business section, and is out of part of the stores flooded in West Hickman. However, it is still in a few in that section. The railroad track is beginning to show up on top of the upper part of the city levee in places, but the fall so far has been rather slow, being only seventeen inches.

Yesterday was the lightest day of all at the commissary, rations being given out to about 300, the people being given three days' rations ahead at a time. The number will possibly be heavier to-day.

The committee in charge feels that it will be able to cope with the situation, having enough money in the treasury to last at least another week, after which time the city should be able to take care of the homeless, provided, of course, the river goes down and the factories resume operation at once.

OUR ALIEN POPULATION — SPLendid MOVEMENT

A beginning toward industrial preparedness has been made by a big motor car company, in its new employment policy. In the future only American citizens, native-born or neutralized, will be eligible for promotion, and only such aliens as have taken steps toward citizenship will be employed. This policy might seem to be directed against immigration, but a little study shows that it is a rebuke to American industries. It has been the policy of a good many manufacturers to import cheap alien laborers by the wholesale; a system which brings into this country hundreds of thousands of men who have none of the responsibilities of citizenship, and who make no move toward becoming citizens. Such men, working for low wages, and living in poverty and wretchedness, are not an asset but a liability.

The employers, in this instance, consider the presence of such a group, especially one of such large proportions, as a political weakness.

MOTHER TELLS HOW VINOL

Made Her Delicate Boy Strong New York City.—"My little boy was in a very weak, delicate condition as a result of gastritis and the measles and there seemed no hope of saving his life. The doctor prescribed cod liver oil but he could not take it. I decided to try Vinol—and with splendid results. It seemed to agree with him so that now he is a strong healthy boy."—Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, 1030 Park Ave., N. Y. City.

We guarantee Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, for run-down conditions, chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

James H. Williams, Druggist, Hartford, Ky. Vinol is sold in Beaver Dam by Z. W. Mitchell, Druggist.

They do not discount the nationality of any person who comes to the United States, but they do object to such aliens as are unwilling to become citizens and a useful part of the nation. Insistence upon the Americanization idea may eventually bring us nearer an Americanism which will make patriotism stronger than it sometimes seems to-day, in the United States.—[Paducah Sun.]

SANITATION TAUGHT BY MOSAIC LAW GOOD

There has been gathered a collection of facts to prove that the sanitary laws of Moses were not only on a line with the modern rules of hygiene, but in some cases in advance of them.

The Jew, thousands of years before Christ, settling in a semi-tropical country, was forbidden to eat pork or shellfish, and milk was designated as a source of contagion. It the Talmud a method of slaughtering animals was prescribed which is acknowledged to-day in our markets as the most sanitary.

Five thousand years before Koch gave to the world the results of his researches in bacteriology, the Mosaic law pointed out the danger to man from tuberculosis in cattle, but did not forbid infected poultry as food.

It was only a few years ago that German specialists discovered that fowl tuberculosis was harmless to man.

The Mosaic law also enforced the isolation of patients with contagious diseases and the burial of the dead outside all cities. These hints the Gentile world did not fully accept until a century or two ago.

The wise lawgiver prescribed not only fasting at certain periods of the year, but the removal of whole families in summer out to camps, where for a time they could live close to nature. Many of the laws of Moses were prescriptions intended for the health of both mind and body.—[Los Angeles Times.]

USUAL BAD ROADS CRY— MATTER OF BOND ISSUE

Reports are plentiful that the dirt roads of the county are in as bad condition as it is possible for roads to get in. In some communities the roads are so bad that travel is well-nigh impossible and telephone lines are down, completely shutting people off from communication with the outside world. Yet, there is strong opposition to a bond issue for roads among these very people. They argue that if the bond issue carries, the proceeds of same will be expended on roads other than those on which they live, and they will have the tax to pay and not be relieved of the conditions which now prevail.

This is doubtless true in some cases. It will be impossible to pave every dirt road in the county with the $400,000 bond issue, but when it shall have been spent there will necessarily be very much less dirt road mileage to be looked after in the future. Every mile of pike constructed reduces the dirt roads just that much, and as we are already paying a special road tax, shouldn't we just as well add a little more to it and get some benefit from it? So long as citizens vote against progressive measures just because they may not be directly benefited, just so long will the county as a whole remain in the mud.—[Pembroke Journal.]

For Children's Cough.
You cannot use anything better for your child's cough and cold than Dr. King's New Discovery. It is prepared from Pine Tar mixed with healing and soothing balsams. It does not contain anything harmful and is slightly laxative, just enough to expel the poisons from the system. Dr. King's New Discovery is antiseptic—kills the cold germs—raises the phlegm—loosens the cough and soothes the irritation. Don't put off treatment. Coughs and Colds often lead to serious lung troubles. It is also good for adults and the aged. Get a bottle to-day. All druggists.—Advertisement.

Honey Vinegar.
Vinegar made from honey has an exceptionally fine flavor and is not expensive. A small amount of honey furnishes a large amount of vinegar. Follow these directions: Dissolve thoroughly in two gallons of warm, soft water one quart jar of extracted honey. Give it air and keep it in a warm place where it will ferment and make excellent vinegar.

Had 180 Gall Stones.
C. A. Bishop was hurried to the Surgical Hospital Monday morning for an operation for gallstone. One hundred and eighty stones were removed, the largest number ever removed from a patient in the history of this hospital.—[Calloway Times.]

A Poor Excuse.

A young man down East hung himself because some people found fault with him. An exchange adds that, should this practice become general, the trees would be full preachers, schoolteachers, doctors and editors.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP ACRE CORN--HOW RAISED

Boy Tells How He Went About Preparing Ground and Cultivation.

(By Walter Lee Dunson, of Alabama, champion corn grower of the world.)

In preparing my land for corn I first cut the stalks with a stalk cutter and turned the land from ten to twelve inches deep on the first of March with a two-horse plow. I then double-cut the land with a disc harrow, and on the seventh of April I laid off the rows three feet apart, bedded the land with a one-horse turner and planted the corn in the water furrow, using two hundred pounds of 10-4 guano.

The corn came up in perfect stand. For the first plowing I used a cultivator just deep enough to loosen the soil. The second plowing was made with a single stock, with scoter and scraze. I then used four hundred pounds of 10-4 guano.

For its third cultivation I used a harrow, after having applied six hundred pounds of 10-4 guano. I then thinned out the corn to a stand of about eight inches in the drill. At the fourth cultivation I again used a harrow, and applied eight hundred pounds of 10-4 guano, also giving it a good hoeing.

For the fifth cultivation I used a harrow, and applied two hundred pounds of 10-4 guano as a top dressing. The harrow was used for the sixth cultivation, and one hundred pounds of nitrate of soda was applied. For the seventh cultivation I used a shovel cultivator, going over the ground very lightly. Here is the cost of this acre of corn divided among the various operations:

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Hooray!

At the burning of a barn in Steele recently our County Superintendent displayed some nerve and pluck. Miss Hinman did not wait for the men to get there but hastened to the barn without stopping to dress, and in bare feet untied the horses before they had become unmanageable, thus saving them with little trouble. There is not a man, we venture to say, in all Steele but what would have stopped to put on his pants before venturing out into the crisp air, but she didn't.—[Tuttle (N. D.) Star.]

A Woeful Lack.

"Although Chugson has had a car for almost six months, he still seems to think a pedestrian has some rights."

"How do you account for that attitude?"

"It's very peculiar. It certainly shows a woeful lack of self-confidence."

A man may find his words considerably damaged when he is forced to take them back.

A Theory Put Into Practice by Well Known Business Man

J. C. BRADY

"A druggist has many opportunities to make lasting friends of his customers," said Mr. J. C. Brady, popular Rexall Pharmacist of Fall River, Mass. "The very nature of his business draws their confidence for little helpful suggestions on the matter of health. Many people have thanked me for recommending Rexall Ordurines as the best relief for constipation and its resultant ills. Put up in dainty candy tablet form, they are pleasant to the taste and make an ideal laxative for the home—for men, women and children alike."

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative. Trial size, 10 cents.
